

5 Auditory-Loving Curriculums That Make Learning Stick (and Sing!)

Auditory Learner

Learning isn't just seen on the page — it's heard in the rhythm of words, the music of memory, and the cadence of stories. 🎵 For auditory learners, knowledge blooms when spoken, sung, and shared aloud.

Here are five curriculum options that cater to auditory learners:

Sing Song Latin

Latin gets lyrical with this program that teaches vocabulary and grammar through chants and songs. Perfect for memory-building and ear-training.

The Story of the World – Audiobook Edition

History becomes an epic tale when read aloud by a narrator with great storytelling chops. Ideal for listening in the car or during quiet play.

Memoria Press – Classical Core with Recitation

Built-in recitation and memory work woven into daily lessons help auditory learners solidify facts through repetition and rhythm.

Math-U-See

Not just visual — this curriculum comes with instructional videos and spoken explanations that reinforce math concepts for kids who learn by hearing.

Songs for Teaching

A treasure trove of songs across subjects — from math to science to grammar — sung by real educators. Great for both supplementing and reinforcing.
